Preparing for a Tornado

- 1 Where should I go if a tornado is spotted near my town? This is a question that many of us may ask when we see a dark cloud forming. There are a few simple steps to follow that could ensure your safety or even save your life. The key to these steps is to complete them before the tornado season even begins this year.
- 2 Along with your other family members, you should first choose an area in your home as a shelter. A basement is the best choice for a shelter, but if your house has no basement, use an inner hallway or smaller inner room such as a bathroom or a closet. Remember to stay clear of rooms with windows because the glass can shatter and cause injury.
- 3 Collect at least one flashlight and a portable, battery-operated radio with extra batteries for each. Place these items in the room you have chosen as a shelter. These will come in handy if the electricity is out.
